Junction Australia General Manager Appointed Vice Chair of International Housing Partnership

Scott Langford, General Manager of Housing & Urban Development at Junction Australia, has been appointed as the Vice-Chair of the International Housing Partnership (IHP).

The IHP's membership includes over 170 high-capacity leading housing organisations from Australia, Canada, the UK and the USA that collectively manage more than one million affordable homes. Together the members of the IHP employ more than 32,000 people, have combined annual operating budgets in excess of $5 billion, and most importantly provide a place to call home for over 2.5 million people.

"Affordable housing and homelessness are issues that continue to challenge communities around the globe. Members of the IHP apply a business head and a social heart to the provision of high-quality affordable homes in thriving communities. By drawing on global expertise and sharing learning from innovations, IHP members are seeking solutions to better serve their communities" said Scott. "I look forward to working with the incoming Chair and members of the IHP to continue to provide mechanisms that build capacity and amplify the impact of members work in communities across the four countries."

Junction Australia CEO Graham Brown said that he was delighted that Scott's appointment as Vice-Chair will further strengthen Junction Australia's opportunities to contribute to and learn from international best practice. "Junction Australia is a trusted, independent provider of integrated affordable housing and community services that has been serving Australian communities for over thirty six years. JA's Senior Management team is committed to innovation and thought leadership which enhances our efforts to strengthening lives and communities."
